

Selling off top shelf state services is no bargain.

Keep SUNY hospitals public. Don't sell out.

To help balance the state's budget gap, the Executive Budget gives SUNY Trustees the authority to sell our SUNY Hospitals in Syracuse, Brooklyn and Stony Brook.

That would be a sell-out for the communities served by the hospitals.

The SUNY Hospitals are outstanding public health care facilities providing community health care services, specialty medical services and educational opportunities. They serve thousands of New Yorkers, regardless of their ability to pay. Selling these hospitals to private, not-for-profit corporations eliminates public involvement and legislative oversight, putting the health of the communities they serve at risk.

Call your legislators and the governor toll free at 1-877-255-9417. Tell them to reject the proposal to sell our SUNY hospitals.

Selling SUNY's Hospitals is no bargain for New York.
